Micklem® Multibridle

A better way forward

"It's the small details that count. The length of each section of leather, the precise angles and the quality of the component parts. Something as small as a light pinch or a little extra pressure in the wrong place could create a large amount of unnecessary discomfort to your horse. We make sure we get the details just right, and we stand behind our Rambo® Micklem bridle 100%. This means we guarantee each bridle will be right, and we guarantee that ours is the only bridle made to my precise specifications, and more than this Horseware® is the only company to have the continuous involvement and professional expertise from myself. There's only one original Micklem design and one Rambo® Micklem bridle... and it's made by Horseware® Ireland."

A widened and padded headpiece, with no separate uncomfortable noseband strap, distributes pressure evenly across the poll.

The position of the noseband avoids the exit point of the sensitive facial nerve, eliminating discomfort and numbness in the face.

The noseband sits higher than a drop noseband yet works like a flash, while avoiding putting pressure on the fragile nose bones.

*Loved by trainers,
loved by horses*

The unique shape and positioning of the noseband and back straps allow the bridle to avoid the protruding molar teeth, so sensitive tissue inside the mouth is not damaged.

The shaped cheekpiece fits comfortably around the protruding cheekbones, avoiding unnecessary pressure.
